Results Software Selects InsynQ, Inc. for Hosting of Results CRM Business Suite, Offers Subscription Licensing

Online Access and Rental Licensing Allows More Businesses To Get Results Any Time, Anywhere

July 09, 2009 – GIG HARBOR, WA – InsynQ, Inc., which provides online accounting/business application hosting and services through its e-Accounting center, announced today that its Virtual Desktop technology and application hosting platform has been selected by Results Software, a Customer Relationship Management (CRM) application developer and consulting group, to provide users anytime-anywhere access to vital business and accounting information using hosted, rental-licensed Results CRM.

The subscription service for Results CRM applications offers a secure and affordable online solution for businesses requiring the extensive functionality of a comprehensive CRM system without the typically associated costs of purchasing software or servers and networking hardware. Hosted deployment of the solution saves time, travel and other IT related expenses, while providing users with complete desktop functionality from any internet connected computer.

“We needed an affordable computing system that allowed our customers to access business records from home or from any office using any computing platform worldwide,” said Naseem Saab, founder of Results Software. “Through hosting Results CRM, QuickBooks® and Microsoft Office® on Virtual Desktops, InsynQ has enabled us to deliver a complete business system to our customers and it is making a big difference. Businesses that can not readily afford the one-time cost of enterprise software are able to rent the licenses on a monthly basis, removing the barrier of having to purchase all the software first. Now, enterprises are able to get started immediately with Results CRM and can grow their systems at the same pace as their business.”

“InsynQ is pleased to be delivering Results CRM solutions,” said John Gorst, Chairman and CEO of InsynQ. “Being able to offer such a strong application, affordably to small businesses, is very exciting, especially when it is able to be delivered with subscription licensing. Renting the software license means a business can get the functionality it needs right now, without having to wait for a new capital budget.”

The Results CRM Business Desktop offers a small business or enterprise implementation of Results CRM, optional QuickBooks integration, and complete Microsoft Office integration – all for a single monthly subscription fee. All applications are hosted at InsynQ's secure, environmentally controlled data center to avert the loss of critical records. If disaster strikes, this state-of-the-art facility will continue to provide clients with 24/7 uptime and availability. All data is virus protected and automatically backed-up nightly.
